ACHI Magazine Selects Alonia Jones as Woman of Influence

(Atlanta, GA - March 24, 2019) Alonia Jones, CEO of Dream 2 Destiny Enterprises and Director of Communications at Arlington Christian School, was voted Woman of Influence by ACHI Magazine. She, along with other winners in a plethora of categories, was honored Sunday, March 24th at the Porter Sanford Center for Performing Arts in Decatur, Georgia at the 3rd Annual ACHI Awards. ACHI (pronounced Aah Chee) means strength in sisterhood. ACHI Magazine is a bi-annual digital and print magazine distributed to its members.

The Woman of Influence award is highly fitting for Jones, who is rapidly becoming an icon for wisdom and inspiration. "I have known Alonia essentially all of her life, and her commitment to serving others with excellence and integrity has remained constant. She is a valuable and credible resource to many. Thus, her being voted Woman of Influence makes perfect sense," states Sheila Tenney, Director of Corporate, Community & Academic Partnerships at Clayton State University.

In addition to this award from ACHI, Alonia was also recognized in 2019 as a Woman of Excellence by Atlanta Tribune: The Magazine/Atlanta Daily World as well as saluted as a Hidden Figure of DeKalb County in 2018.
